EUCALYP US

EUCALYPHUS OIL has long taken a fore most place as a "household remedy" in Australia. When applied externally it has a powerful atimulal t and so thing action but does not blister the most sensitive skin and no appl oution known will so quickly subdue the pain of musoniar rheumatism. Taken internally in small doses, it nots as a powerful stimulant and antispasmodic, whilst its secondary notion induces sleep. The penetrating agreeable vapour of the Oil is a dative; and when inhaled relieves Asthma. Bronchitis, Catarrh, and Spro Throat. It is also a most powerful artise, tie and ger-charged with murdering a man named Ro-BERT BEATTY, at Yokohama, on the 7th July, 1892. It would seem that Cars-TENS, having been imprisoned for some offence not stated in the report before us on being released from gaol took BEATTY' life because he blamed him for his imprisonment. The murder appears to have been a peculiarly cold-blooded one. The murderer found his victim in hed, and after some high words, he shot the prostrate man five times. Upon leaving the house he was knocked down by a British marine, who feared that he might do further mischief if allowed to go on his way unchecked. Three Japanese policemen rushed up, but not before and eight cents respectively. the murderer had regained his feet. He shot his would-be capturers, wounding revolver upon himself, inflicting a slightwound in the leg. The constables were from the scene of the offence, or how the taking any steps to verify the statements made. difficulties about witnesses, or the taking of know. The Japan Herald recalls a someone of the Messageries Martimes steamers Yokohama murdered three men in the street, one of them a German police constable who attempted to check their return to their ship. They got safely a sincere lover of tea as tea should be, I would their revenue for these purposes, and in order to on board, and the case then drifted into the hands of the French Court at Saigon, but Andrew Clarke's condemnation of Indian tess to stop public works. "system which enables murderers to evade justice." The wrong is only too plain and calls loudly for remedy, but it is not of such a nature as to utterly condemn the system of entra-territoriality. That system is a necessity in certain countries, of which Japan has hitherto been ranked as one, but it is the port. imperative duty of the Powers enjoying extra-territoriality to provide the machinery for the proper administration of justice. The system imposes obligations as well as conform privileges. Bosides the absence of the proper machinery for dealing with grave orimes such as that of homicide, there is also a tendency on the part of the Consular representatives to shirk responsibility when possible by disowning the nationality of a criminal. THE FIRST SHIPMENTS OF OUR SUPPLIES OF CARSTEN'S Case there were protracted legal a change proceedings before the man's nationality was definitely fixed and the responsibility for dealing with him accepted by Germany, and similar attempts to disown undesirable nationals have been made in other ports both of Japan and China. If extra-territoriality abandoned in China and is still desirable in Japan-it is the duty of the Powers to concert some means by which justice shall be administered with the promptitude and effectiveness that are expected under civilized Governments.

The universal corruption which prevails in China is generally thought to stop short as the door of the examination hall. When the thousands of students enter their cells to prepare their essays and work for the supposed to reign amongst the examiners to whether the supposition is well founded, but the commotion that is raised whenever any irregularity is discovered goes to show that on the whole honesty is looked for in The best and cheapest machines in the market this matter, if in no other, and that as Kapt in stock and supplied at Manufacturers a rule it prevails. The fact would seem to be that there are so many terested parties with divided interests, all Quadrille keeping such a lynx-eved watch and with sufficient influence to make their voice heard if cause of complaint arises, that any extensive system of bribery is impossible. The The work is alike interesting to the student examiners may not really be more honest than other men, but the circumstances of the case render the giving or receiving of bribes a very risky proceeding. During the recent examinations at Soochow it is said tectorate has requested the Messagories Fluviales to be Captain Wilson of the ship Centenniel that one of the examiners was handed native bank order for Tls. 14,000, with the names of five candidates for literary honours | the vessel being the Chobo. This development, | Sept. the p isoner went familiarly into the Bay on the back and a request to make things so long and earnestly desired, will give a great View Hotel and shook Mr. Osborne heartily by easy for them at the examination. Mercury says the examiner evidently did not believe the order would be honoured and had the messenger who brought the note money he would have accepted the note, "for," it says, "we cannot conceive a China-"man refusing such a No. 1 good chance." It does not seem quite inconceivable to ourselves there may be such a feeling of honour amongst the Chinese in respect to the great examination system of the country, the most cherished of their national institutions, that, an examiner might be found impervious to bribery even if the bribes could be accept with safety, but over and above this there of whom the writer says :- I thought her the is the fierce public light which pours on the manner in which the examinations are conducted and which brings forcibly home to all ately as occasion dictated, preserving her inconcerned the motto that honesty is the best policy. However, in the case in question conservative Court of the Mikado. I believe the messenger who brought the note was arrested and investigations were set on foot, with the result that CHOU FUH-CHING, a naturalised and potential individual at an Hanlin, and formerly a Secretary of the Eastern Court. Grand Secretariat, had handed the messenger the letter with directions to give it to the Mr. Justice Wright in Chambers on the 12th examiner. Chou Fun-ching, who is in mourning, has been degraded for his part Brighton, is suing his Royal Highness the in this disgraceful affair, and it is believed that he will be arrested and otherwise punished. Occasionally, though very rarely, instances of bribery are brought to light, and then things go hard with all concerned, It is just possible that in this case the tendering of a hogus note was part of a plot to bring about the downfall of an examiner and also that the Sultan would come under the season. against whom there was some ill will, his sutherity of the Empress of India Mr. Justice A rew days ago there passed through this enemy possibly thinking that he might support, on his way from Japan to Germany, pose the note to be genuine and be unable a man named Carstens, who is being taken to resist the temptation of so large a bribe, to his own country to undergo a term of Had he accepted it it would then have been imprisonment for an aggravated assault and possible to denounce him and bring about to be tried on the more serious charge of bis ruin. However this may be, it would murder, with which the Consular Court at seem that on the whole the great examina-Yokohama was incompetent to deal. BRITISH NORTH BORNEO.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT SANDARAN, 12th October. The tobacco drop on all the estates in British North Borneo may now be said to be safe, a far as the uncertainties arising from climate are concorned, and the result so far is much more sat isfactory than in any former year. The average yield on the estates on the Kinabalangan Rivet will approach very near 8 picula per field. One (the Jemogaug.) has realised 7 pioule. This is quite 14 piouls botter than any former year. and if the present high prices are main tained, must certainly lead to more land be ing taken up. I saw Dr. Van Vliet this morning, the medical man in charge of the five Kinabatangan Fatates. He told me that in three months he had lost two coolies on the whole five estates, employing in all from 1,300 to 1,400 hands. With such figures as these it is THE EVIDENCE OF SIR THOMAS WADE, AND very simple one. The prisoner was charged not necessary to dwell upon the improved health with stealing three Waterbury watches and and condition of the coolie.
